Telling Your Story

JOURNAL MAKING AND WRITING WORKSHOP

In collaboration with Live Oak Library, Savannah African Art Museum presents "Telling Your Story," a workshop at the historic Carnegie Library to celebrate the library's Anniversary. You will create a personalized journal to begin authoring your own story by expressing who you are, your gifts/talents, victories, aspirations, etc.

Storytelling is a universal art that exists in every culture to pass on cultural traditions, knowledge, history, and experiences from one generation to the next. Storytelling in African culture goes back to ancient times. It also plays a role in passing on codes of behavior and maintaining order in the community. This is accomplished by the gift of the storyteller, who in parts of West Africa is known as a Griot (pronounced gree-oh). Griots entertain, inspire, and engage their audience while educating them.

Perhaps you are the Griot of your family or community!

2022 Telling Your Story Workshop Bookmark Pocket

----- Cut along dotted line and fold on solid lines -----

Cut your bookmark pocket along the dotted line. Fold the three flaps along the solid lines. Once the three flaps have been folded, place glue along your folded flaps and fold them back so the glued side will be facing your journal coverpage. Press into the journal cover page and let dry. When the glue is dry you are ready to decorate and use your pocket
